Dr. Maxwell's letter to Superintendent Bardwell referred to Miss Rodman as Mrs. Henrietta de Fremery.

Miss Rodman Welcomes Row.

This was a reference to one of Miss Rodman searly altercations with the Board of Education. When she was married, about a year and a half ago, to Herman de Fremery, now known as de Frem she continued to use her own name professionally, and it was not until the Board of Education made a formal inquiry that she informed them of her marriage. She refused to sign the name De Fremery to her pay checks, and for two months her salary was held up. Then she was compelled to yield. Her husband, about six months ago, adopted the "socialistic spelling" of his name, because, as he said, "De Fremery" smacked of aristocracy.

1916 War's Limit, Says Austrian Army Head By Cable to The Tribune.

Rome, Nov. 12.-Field Marshal Evettovich, of the Austrian army. has published an article fixing 1916 as the extreme limit of the war. Next spring, he writes, England can put another army into the field and in the summer and autumn other belligerents can collect fresh forces, but in 1916 no more possibly car be raised.

The entrance of neutral states into the conflict will prolong rather than abbreviate the war. A grea naval battle will be inevitable, and Germany will find the invasion of England most difficult.
